School board,
teachers agree

Tentative pact reached

By Hilley Schulte
Staff writer

Madison teachers apparently will not strike for at least two years.

The Madison School District 12 teachers' union and board of education tentatively agreed on a two-year contract after more than four hours of negotiations over the weekend.

Last Thursday, the Madison Illinois Federation of Teachers announced it would file to strike if progress wasn't made on a contract by this Tuesday.

During a meeting the next night, the board and teachers reached a tentative agreement.

Don Smith, president of the Madison Illinois Teachers Federation, said the new contract allows an across-the-board three percent salary increase the first year, and a three-percent increase the second year.

"It's better than a freeze. It's not great, but it's not bad," Smith said. Smith said the teachers wanted an eight percent increase over two years, but got six.

"We came down a little bit because we didn't want to hurt the district. We told them we wouldn't take a freeze," Smith said.

Madison School District 12 is on the state watch list for financially troubled schools.

John Hamm III, board president, said he's "cautiously optimistic" about the tentative agreement.

He said it will be more difficult to balance the budget this year if the agreement is officially adopted, but he hopes it will be close.

"It still looks like we're going to come really close to balancing the budget," he said.

"Real, real close. A lot closer than last year. But, if we do that, we've met our commitment to the taxpayers."

He noted that the board will continue to look for ways to cut costs while still providing quality education for the students.

Superintendent Ken Miller said, "We certainly expect both sides to live up to Boyfriend now called suspect in 2 murdersBy Bob Slate

Staff writer

Police now consider a murder victim's boyfriend as the prime suspect in a double homicide last week in Chouteau Township.

Last week, police were seeking information about Felipe Lamont Hall, 29, who was the boyfriend of slain Christina M. Masters, 20, of Maryland Heights.

The naked bodies of Masters and Samantha Beasley, 17, of St. Louis, were found by a farmer at about 7:15 a.m. Oct. 4 in a soybean field west of Old Alton Road, near the Chernetco plant on Illinois Route 3.

"Due to information received over the weekend, I feel confident we can say Hall is our suspect," said Sgt. Mike Boyne of the Belleville Police Department, who is spearheading the double-murder investigation for the Major Case Squad.

Hall

Hall is currently wanted on a felony warrant issued July 15 in Colorado charging him with six crimes, including reckless endangerment and two counts of second-degree assault. There is no bond on the warrant.

Boyne said Hall has a prior criminal record and failed to show up for a sentencing hearing last summer. Police believe Hall is in the St. Louis area.

Hall is described as 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs 160 pounds. He should be considered armed and dangerous.

The women were last seen alive about 1 a.m. Tuesday at an apartment complex in St. Louis. Boyne said the women were together, but did not say if they were abducted from the spot or if they left voluntarily.

The women, whose clothing and tennis shoes were found in piles near the bodies, were shot several times, Boyne said. Authorities believe the murders took place in the bean field. Between 20 and 25 officers are tracking down about 130 leads in the case, Boyne said.

Anyone with information about Hall should call police at 692-0871 or 692-0879.

Cable viewers will get creditBy Bob Slate
Staff writer

Usually, interruptions in cable television service are caused by either the weather or late bill payment.

But failure in a piece of electronic equipment caused about 13,000 Crown Cable Television subscribers in the Granite City area to lose service for nearly 17 hours over the weekend.

Those customers will see a credit on their bills this month.

"Obviously, we don't want people to pay for a service they didn't receive," said Dave Miller of Crown Cable.

"We know the 50- to 80-cent (credit) won't make up for the frustration people experienced by losing service especially

Officer faces discipline
Complaint alleges use of 'excessive force'By Hilley Schulte
Staff writer

Venice police officer Chris Modrusic used "excessive force" to subdue a suspect in July and injured the woman in the process, according to a complaint against Modrusic.

The complaint was the subject of a disciplinary hearing against Modrusic last week. The hearing was continued to later in the month.

The complaint was filed Aug. 8 by Police Chief James Bennett, who charged that Modrusic used "excessive force and methods to subdue Neidra Matthews and thereby caused serious facial injuries to and knocked out the teeth of Neidra Matthews" during an arrest made July 27.

According to police reports, on July 27 Venice police officers Modrusic and Mike White were dispatched to the 1300 block of Klein Street at Bissell Street Apartments in reference to a fight and a person with a gun.

Upon arrival, police were advised that one of the subjects involved in the incident, Neidra Matthews, 37, was in one of the apartments. After knocking several times and getting no response, Modrusic and White entered the apartment with a key given to them at the office.

Matthews was located hiding in the wash room of the apartment, and she allegedly had her hands inside her pockets, police said.

Modrusic reported that he advised her to come out and remove her hands from her pockets, fearing that she may have a gun. When Matthews disobeyed, Modrusic used "minimum force" to place her in hand restraints as she continued to pull away and reach inside her pockets.

Modrusic stated that after informing Matthews several times to stop reaching in her pockets, the woman pulled away and took an unknown object from her pocket.

Modrusic reported that, fearing for his safety and Officer White's safety, he used "minimum force" to get the unknown

Drugs may not be good for kids' illsBy Hilley Schulte
Staff writer

Although many parents think over-the-counter drugs are the cure for pre-schoolers' colds, pediatricians say the best remedy is to let nature run its course.

In fact, researchers say over-the-counter medicine may do more harm than good.

"There is some truth to that," said Dr. Reza Ashraf, a pediatrician at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City.

"If the medicine is given for relief of a specific symptom, like a runny nose, it is probably OK. But, if it is being given without any real indication of what is wrong, it could hurt the child because of side effects."

"If it is covering symptoms, or acting as a mask for a very serious illness, like meningitis, that would be very harmful. The mother would think everything is OK, when really it's not OK."

Ashraf said. The American Academy of Pediatrics guidelines state: "Over-the-counter treatments often dry the respiratory passages or make the nasal secretions even thicker. In addition, they tend to cause side effects such as drowsiness."

The Journal of the American Medical Association issued Wednesday reported on a 1991 survey of 3,145 mothers of 3-year-olds.

More than one-third of those surveyed by the National Center for Health Statistics had given the youngsters over-the-counter cough or cold medications in the 30 days previously, center epidemiologist Michael D. Kogan and his colleagues found.

"For young children, there's been strikingly little research in the medical literature on the effectiveness of cough and cold medications," Kogan said. "And what research there is has not

Newsboys volunteers needed

The children in the St. Louis area need you. They need you to volunteer to sell special-edition Suburban Journals on Old Newsboys Day, Nov. 17.

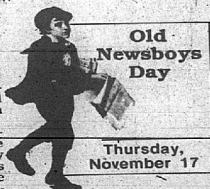

All that is required is a willingness to get up early in the morning and head to your favorite street corner to sell newspapers. Every penny paid for the newspapers will go to children's charities.

Old Newsboys Day is a St. Louis tradition that has raised and distributed more than $5 million to children's charities.

Last year, during a flood-depressed economy, donations were down and the drive raised only $170,000. So the need in 1994 is greater than ever. To raise more funds, more volunteers are needed to sell newspapers.

To volunteer, send your name, daytime telephone number and preferred street corner to: Old Newsboys Day Volunteers, c/o Suburban Journals, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo., 63131. If a group is applying, send the number of people in the group.

The deadline is Oct. 21.

China white heroin is latest drug to worry about

Drug now gaining popularity in Chicago

By Mark Hodapp
Staff writer

A new and potentially dangerous illegal drug might be available in Southern Illinois soon, warns Jerry Elser, executive director of the Illinois State Crime Commission.

China white heroin, which was very popular in the mid-1960s and 1970s in Vietnam, is now starting to gain popularity in Chicago, Elser said.

It is only a matter of time, Elser said, before this drug will be sold in the Metro East.

"It's like cancer — it keeps spreading," he said of China white heroin.

The need to expand the drug's base of operations eventually will push the trade into Southern Illinois, he said.

Elser estimated it could be six months to a year before Metro East begins to feel the brunt of the operation.

There is no indication what the street rates will be once the drug is prevalent in this area, he said. Rural residents need not to believe they are exempt from the potential problem, Elser said.

China white heroin, however, has not been seen locally, Capt. Scott Batte of the O'Fallon Police Department said.

Elser said the drug, which is brought into the country by Chinese Tong gangs, is a very, very organized effort.

"It's not just 16-year-old kids wearing their hats to the right," he said.

Elser said China white heroin's purity makes it different from a brown variety which currently comes out of Mexico. China white heroin has a purity level of 94 to 96 percent, he said.

Consequently, Elser said people won't need spoons, heaters or needles to use it.

"People put it in lemon juice or another liquid agent and dip your cigarettes in it and smoke it," he said. "They can snort it or mainline it. Although, that's not necessary because it's so strong."

Elser said people who use China white heroin can build up a $1,000 a day habit in a matter of weeks.

Elser said drug users typically resort to a number of illegal activities to help support their habit. Users of China white heroin are no different.

"Young people can steal to get money for it, but they probably can't make enough," Elser said.

Instead, he said some people will turn to other routes to pay for their habit.

"Prostitution is a big way to get money for it in metropolitan area, but the most popular way to do this is to turn on 10 of your friends and make money," Elser said.

Clean up — Lead clean up continues as crews ready a site in the 1400 block of State Street in Granite City Wednesday morning.

APA: Beware of animal rituals

The Granite City Association for the Protection of Animals is making a plea to the public to please not give away black cats or kittens during October. The reason behind the request deals with ritual animal sacrificing that occurs on Halloween.

Black cats and occasionally small black dogs are used as sacrifices in satanic ceremonies. The "sacrifices" are generally skinned alive and their throats are later slit so they die an agonizing death. Their carcasses are left to rot.

Pet owners are also asked to keep a close eye on their own pets. Many family pets are also stolen for these rituals. Because of these rituals, the APA will not be adopting out black cats during October. They also ask that other animal adoption facilities do the same.

"Animal sacrificing does occur in Granite City and surrounding areas, so please don't be fooled," an APA spokesperson said.

Time for some fall Gardening Tips from the experts at

FRANK'S NURSERY & CRAFTS

Where Beautiful Things Begin

What does this month bring? Color, definitely. Cool, crisp fall days, leaves crunching beneath the feet, kids trick or treating, and generally fantastic weather. Of course baseball fans may be down in the dumps a bit during this first sans-Series October in ninety-some years, but it's still a great month for other activities. Like gardening.

Gardening chores don't slow down until next month, so if you're itching for something to do, just read on. Here are a few October tips.

Christmas cactus can be encouraged to bloom by providing the plant with at least 12 hours of darkness daily until flower buds form.

Now's a good time to remove greenhouse shading if you haven't done so already.

If your irises were attacked by borers this past summer, remove the leaves and any remaining debris from the garden.

Cover bulbs with old window screens to provide protection from squirrels and other rodents. Remove the screens in early spring before bulbs begin to sprout.

Spring flowering bulbs can be planted until the ground freezes.

Remove and compost annual flower and vegetable plants killed by frost; destroy plants with insect or disease problems.

Scrape off and destroy gypsy moth eggs from tree trunks; also check the sides and undersides of shutters, decks, swings and window boxes.

Keep your bird bath and bird feeders full. You may attract some unusual fall migrating species.

After you cut the grass for the last time, give the mower a good cleaning and tune-up. If this is not your cup of tea, the folks at a lawn mower shop will take care of it for you.

Place fallen leaves in your compost pile. Leaves from trees such as maple or oak break down faster if they are shredded first.

Stack fireplace logs on a platform rather than directly on the ground. This will prevent invaders such as saw bugs, centipedes and other pests. If your stack of logs is a considerable distance from the house, you might want to set up a temporary stack closer. Less snow to trudge through on those cold January days.

This is a good time to move deciduous trees or shrubs, but wait until all the leaves have dropped.

Prevent insects and spiders from moving indoors for the winter by applying a pesticide both indoors and out. If you use only one pesticide, make sure it's labeled for both areas.

When newly-planted grass reaches three inches, mow it to a height of two inches. Continue to remove a third of the growth thereafter until it becomes dormant.

Mums that produce abundant flower buds should be staked to prevent their stems from breaking.

Waiting until after a light frost to harvest Brussels sprouts and turnips will improve their flavor.

Deciduous trees and shrubs can be pruned once all the leaves have fallen and the plants are dormant.

Renovation

Ainad Temple getting $500,000 spruce-up

By Mike Viola
Staff writer

John Craver refers to the building for which he is the administrator as a monster. The Ainad Temple towers over its neighbors in the 600 block of St. Louis Avenue and has been a local landmark for more than 70 years.

Shriners from throughout Southern Illinois are presently restoring the roar to Craver's monster thanks to a massive renovation project of the historic building.

"We had looked at building a new temple but it was just too much money," said Craver. "And there was also no way that that anybody would want to buy this monster of a building."

So the 7,000 members of the Shriners of the Ainad Temple decided that they would renovate the building at a cost of over $500,000.

Some of the repairs will include an improved roof, tuckpointing, waterproofing and painting the interior of the massive building.

Funding for the project will come from contributions by the Shriners who are members of the temple. Members live throughout Southern Illinois from Effingham in the north to Cairo in the south and to the Indiana and Missouri borders.

Craver said about $85,000 has already been collected from Shriners for the renovation which is expected to take about three years to complete.

Shriners operate 23 hospitals for crippled children throughout the United States specializing in orthopedic and burn care. One of the hospitals is located in West St. Louis County.

Parents of children who are admitted to the hospital pay only what they can afford for their child's medical treatment.

With its impressive architecture, the temple in East St. Louis has been a landmark in the community since it was constructed in 1923.

In addition to being used for Shriners' activities, the temple has also been used for Golden Glove boxing tournaments, East Side basketball games and a variety of pageants and galas.

The Ainad Temple is one of 191 Shriners' temples in the United States and is one of the oldest.

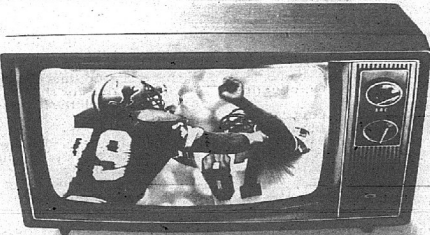

Craver said that when local Shriners where faced with the option of selling the temple and locating in a different city, most Shriners said they wanted to stay put in East St. Louis which has been home for 71 years.

Many of the Shriners said they felt East St. Louis was on the road to recovery from its many problems and that the Shriners wanted to be a part of that recovery instead of leaving town and finding a new place to call home.

Gaining Knowledge — Maryann Schicker (left), a school nurse for the Riverview Gardens School District in St. Louis County, and Jo Anne Roberson of Collinsville, a registered nurse at St. Elizabeth's Medical Center in Granite City, are introduced to a special computer software program during orientation at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The nurses are participating in what administrators consider an exciting new format for higher education — televised or "distance" learning. The new telecommunications system uses two-way video and audio transmission to permit students in a classroom at Shawnee Community College and students in a classroom on the Edwardsville campus to interact with one another.

Trick-or-treating precautions are urged

Trick-or-treating is fun. But getting hurt on Halloween can be frightful. So, don't forget to take the following precautions from St. Elizabeth's Medical Center, in Granite City, to ensure safety comes first, and you'll be battling a thousand.

- Make sure your child's costume is safe and flame resistant.
- Masks, hats and wigs can make it difficult to see when trick-or-treating. Make sure nothing restricts your child's vision. Makeup is better than a mask. Look for nontoxic kits.

- A costume that is light in color is easier for motorists to see. Or, you may want to use reflective tape on your child's costume for better visibility.

- High heels and over-sized boots may cause your child to fall. Have your child wear shoes that are comfortable to walk in such as tennis shoes.
- Beware of baggy costumes that can get caught on fences or cause your child to trip.
- Have your child carry a flashlight instead of a lighted candle or torch.

- Parents or a responsible teenager should accompany young trick-or-treaters.
- Use sidewalks. If there aren't any, walk on the left side of the road facing cars.

- Families expecting trick-or-treaters should leave their porch lights on so children will know it is OK to visit.
- Never let children eat unwrapped candy. Always cut fresh fruit.
- Children should trick-or-treat in groups in their own neighborhoods and let their parents know their route.

Group to help with home buying

A new organization, the HOME Foundation of Granite City Inc., was recently formed to help local families struggling to make a down payment on their first home. "Home Ownership Made Easier" is more than the organization's name, it is its purpose.

A committee of concerned residents — with input from school principals and social workers — will select the families. Each selected family will rent the foundation's home for $250 to $300 per month and pay its own utilities. Rent will be placed in an escrow account so that a $9,000 to $19,800 down payment can be made on the family's own home at the end of its two- to three-year rental period.

Funds for the project are needed to purchase and rehab one small home in Granite City. Donations, payable to the HOME Foundation, may be sent to P.O. Box 1031. Also, items are being accepted for benefit garage sales. The first garage sale is scheduled for Oct. 15 at 2327 St. Bernard (off Johnson Road). Organizations and individuals wishing to donate items or willing to host a fundraiser should write to P.O. Box 1031, Granite City.

Like "Christmas in April," which helps homeowners with needed repairs, the HOME Foundation is trying to improve the standard of living in Granite City.

"Everyone knows someone having a difficult time financially. This is one way to help," said Ruth Noeth, foundation president.

Ashraf said he believes so many parents give over-the-counter cough and cold medication because it makes them feel like they are helping. "It makes the mother happy that she is doing something. It makes her feel like she's helping her baby," he said.

Kogan said, "Children can have adverse reactions to over-the-counter medications even when they're given according to directions."

The academy recommends against giving any young child a cough or cold remedy without a doctor's permission.

Miller said the administrative office is "crunching numbers" to make sure the budget will balance with the agreement.

"It's going to be very close, but we're hopeful that it will work," he said.

Miller said he is, "not sure yet

Manufacturers Association released a statement Tuesday calling over-the-counter medicines "safe and effective" in proper doses.

Pharmacist Bob Harper of Walgreen Drug Store in Granite City agrees. "As long as the directions are followed, I recommend the products."

However, he said that if directions are not followed correctly, over-the-counter medications tend to have side effects. They may keep the child awake all night, and then the parents wonder what causes that.

Harper said other side effects from over-the-counter products may be cramping or an upset stomach.

If a child has a fever, giving acetaminophen (Tylenol) is appropriate, as long as the recommended dosage for a child's age is followed, according to the pediatric academy.

Also, parents should increase fluid intake for children with fevers, and consider treating coughs with such home remedies as tea with lemon and honey, chicken soup and hot broth.

Peggy Funkhouser, executive director of Toddle Town Learning Centers, said "over-the-counter drugs are not allowed in its three area day-care centers."

"We feel like a lot of parents are giving children medicine because they feel like they need to do something and maybe they can't stay home with them," she said. "If they are sick enough to need medicine, they should be home."

what a three percent increase each of two years will mean dollar-wise to the district.

"We're still working on that. We've not yet compared those numbers," he said.

Hamm and Miller said the board will tentatively meet at 7 p.m. Friday to officially take action, one way or another, on the contract.

Madison teachers and the school board began negotiations in February. The teachers' contract expired Aug. 22.

After failing to make progress in negotiations, the board and teachers began using federal mediation during the last week of September. Charlie Fuschs of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Services served as the mediator, attempting to work with both sides to bring about an agreement.

on Saturday night. But these situations don't occur every day. It is pretty unique and pretty rare for us to have an equipment failure," Miller said.

He said that the interruption in service was caused by failure of a five- to six-year-old low-noise amplifier atop a 130-foot tall reception tower in Granite City.

"When service was interrupted at about 3:15 p.m. Saturday, we put a crew on it immediately. By the time they had diagnosed the problem, it was dark and the weather was not ideal. They attempted to climb the tower to make the repair. But we decided to wait until conditions were better rather than to risk a life," Miller said.

Thousands of subscribers tried to call the cable company's 24-hour customer service telephone line at the same time Saturday to determine the problem. Most of them got busy signals.

Service was restored at 7:52 a.m. Sunday, Miller said.

Customers need not call the cable company to receive the credit on their bills, he said.

McKendree salutes Holman

By Mark Hodepp

Staff writer

"Uncle Doc" was a man who liked seeing people carry out their educational pursuits.

Reflecting Thursday on Dr. Clarence Cleveland Holman, William Austin said it was a $250,000 gift in 1967 from Holman's estate which triggered a campaign to construct a new library at McKendree College. The monetary gift from the Holmans represented the largest gift to the college at that date.

The donation was typical of the Holmans, said William Austin, the nephew of Beulah Crews Holman.

During last Thursday's Fall Convocation, McKendree College paid tribute to the Holmans. McKendree's Holman's Library was dedicated 25 years ago on Oct. 17, 1969.

"Uncle Doc," as William Austin referred to Dr. Holman, was always interested in education.

"He felt a mind was an awful thing to waste," William Austin said.

As a youngster, William Austin remembers going to his aunt and uncle's house in Effingham.

"Uncle Doc would always quiz me on the anatomical chart. He expected me to know the names of 200 or so bones. And I was only eight or 10 at the time."

"Uncle Doc" was curious about his nephew's future education and career plans were too. William Austin today is a prominent attorney in Effingham.

"Oftentimes, our discussions came around to the stock market," William reflected.

"The stock market was Uncle Doc's passion after his retirement."

Prior to his retirement, however, Dr. Holman attended the St. Louis School of Pharmacy in 1905.

His interest in the practice of medicine prompted him to transfer to Barnes Medical School University School (now Washington University School of Medicine). He graduated with the degree of Doctor of Medicine cum laude in 1909.

Dr. Holman received additional training at Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago and Columbia University in New York, where he wrote and presented one of the earliest papers on tularemia, or rabbit fever.

Dr. Holman married Beulah Babb Crews in 1914. She was born on Feb. 25, 1889, into pioneer Jasper County family and was one of 11 children. Her father, David, had established the Crews State Bank and Trust in Montrose and the Bank of Commerce in Wheeler.

Three of Beulah's uncles attended McKendree: Franklin Crews, William Crews, Lawrence Sherman. Sherman later became Speaker of the House in the Illinois General Assembly, Lieutenant Governor of Illinois, and U.S. Senator from 1912-1921.

Beulah was one of the first librarians in Effingham. She was regent of the Ann Crocker St. Clair Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Beulah was an artist of considerable talent too. She, however, received no formal art training, William Austin said.

Three of her paintings are now on display in Holman Library. Each have their own separate story, William Austin said.

For example, the painting depicting a winter scene is symbolic of reality: death, he said. Dr. Holman died on March 12, 1968, followed by Beulah on Feb. 25, 1976.

"The Holmans were not publicity seeking people," William Austin said.

"And as Dr. Delbert Huelckottner once said about them, 'They weren't people anecdotes could be written about. But wow, what a lady! What a gentleman!'"

Precedent scary
in wrestling case

I've never met Nikki Jaquillard or Michelle Kane, Belleville West High School students seeking permission to try out for the school's wrestling team in November.

A photo of the two indicates they are attractive young ladies and apparently very healthy. Since they are members of the Belleville Judo Club and winners of state and national competition.

WHEN CONSIDERING wrestling, though, I sought a few sources to support my contention that girls on a boys wrestling team just does not make sense.

As a former coach of varsity wrestling at O'Fallon High and then an official of the sport for 10 years, I've always felt wrestling was more for the sport type than for beauties.

In my days of coaching wrestling (1968-69), for instance, the cross face was a move that often left an opponent with a nose being pushed from side to side and lips left distorted.

It was an offensive move that, if incorporated properly, allowed the wrestler in control to set the physical tone of a match.

Before anyone wants to argue equal opportunity, the most sensible thing to do for girls wanting to compete against boys in wrestling is to turn to the back of a rules book manual and ask the girls if they want to be in some of the positions shown there.

WHEN I ASKED former West coach Wally Rauth about girls competing on the Maroon mats, he laughed and said: "I guess if I went back to coaching, I'd find out what it's like coaching a girls team."

A coach of the sport for 37 years, Rauth was more direct and said: "They have no business there."

"The IHSA (Illinois High School Association) always wants more crowds at its events," Rauth said. "Maybe this (having girls wrestle) is a way to pack the gym."

While West athletic director John Weinmeier has had to take the girls' hopes to the District 201 school board, it appears the laws of sex equity will be studied by all parties involved.

According to former O'Fallon High principal Bob Bellina, "For every school that has allowed such a thing as girls on the boys wrestling team, there are 10 who have not."

SLUH, St. Mary's in tourney finals

Junior Bills to meet Dragons in delayed championship game

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

For St. Louis U. High and St. Mary's, the two Granite City Tournament of Champions finalists, it is a break well deserved.

Following an incredible run to the final round, the Junior Billies and the Dragons put their tournament hopes on hold Saturday morning after advancing to the championship game with semifinal victories at The Gauntlet.

A steady rainstorm left Granite City's home field unplayable and forced the cancellation of the third-place game between Aquinas Mercy and Vianney.

SLUH and St. Mary's will return to The Gauntlet and play for the championship perhaps as early as next week. No makeup date had been set as of Monday.

THE JUNIOR BILLS and the Dragons not only have at least an entire week to prepare for the game, but also time to savor their accomplishments. The two teams entered the tournament last week with question marks and emerged triumphantly.

SLUH advanced to the semifinals after a thrilling 1-0 victory over CBC on Friday. It marked the first loss of the season for the nationally ranked Cardinals. On Saturday morning, SLUH upended three-time tournament champ Vianney 2-0.

The Junior Bills snapped the Golden Griffins' string of tournament victories at The Gauntlet at 18. Vianney had not lost a Tournament of Champions game in four years.

But nothing could top SLUH's victory over CBC, which avenged a 1-1 tie with the Cardinals earlier this season and led the Junior Bills to even greater heights Saturday.

"I'm very proud of the kids," SLUH coach Charlie Martel said. "We're extremely happy. It's the beginning of a possible roll, I hope. I think these guys can do it."

MARTEL SAID the Junior Bills were looking forward to completing the tournament, but the team was ready for a break. After SLUH played Vianney on the field adjacent to The Gauntlet, tournament officials called it a day.

"I thought it was a really good decision to go to the other field," Martel said. "I'm kind of glad we didn't play (the title game). We had some tired legs."

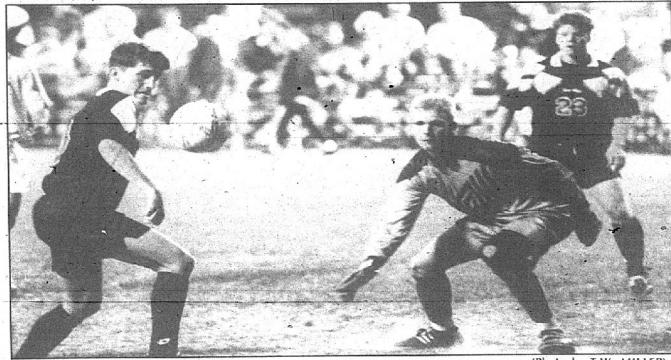

St. Mary's, meanwhile, stunned DeMet on Friday before knocking off small-school rival Aquinas Mercy on Saturday. The Dragons did not allow a goal in three straight games after tying Duchesne 1-1 in the opening round.

St. Mary's coach Jim Bokern said his team was broken more Saturday after edging Aquinas 1-0.

"We're on cloud nine right now," Bokern said. "It's a satisfying feeling because we came into the season thinking we had a lot of potential. We're a senior-laden team, so we knew this was our year."

"Some of our expectations have come true. We had some big questions coming into this tournament."

NEITHER TEAM ENTERED the tournament as favorites to reach the final round. CBC DeMet and Aquinas Mercy appeared to be the teams to beat heading into pool play Oct. 3.

Granite City's Jon Reader (right) looks for the handle as Aquinas/Mercy goalkeeper Andy Korbmesmer defends in last Friday's Tournament of Champions game.

But as has been the case in recent years, the tournament featured its share of upsets. "We've had that happen in this tournament quite frequently," Granite City coach Gene Baker said. "It's been a good tournament."

The biggest shock came Friday (See FINALS, Page 38)

Four teams are scheduled to compete in the Granite City Class AA Regional, which will be held at Memorial Gymnasium beginning on Tuesday, Oct. 25. Besides Granite and Jerseyville, Wood River and Alton will also be on hand.

Action is set to begin at 6:30 p.m., when Jerseyville will play Alton. Granite City (10-13-2) will face Wood River immediately following.

THE REGIONAL WINNER will move on to the Cahokia Sectional, which will feature teams from regionals in Edwardsville, Collinsville and O'Fallon.

The Lady Warriors' win at McCluer North on Saturday avenged an earlier defeat to the Panthers on Sept. 17 at the Granite City Tournament. That match featured three closely contested games.

On Saturday, the Lady Warriors fell behind early in game one to Jerseyville. But they continued to throw the Panthers off their game, to the point that the second game was an easy nine-point win.

The Lady Warriors then faced Ft. Zumwalt South in their second match and fell 15-12, 15-12. "In that match, we had them down by five or six, but we started making service errors and serve-receive errors," Gajich said. "We opened the door for them and let them back in."

WITH A CHANCE to play for third place, the Lady Warriors faced the host team McCluer North in their third match. Thinking it would be their easiest match of the day, the Lady Warriors (See SPIKERS, Page 48)

Lady Warriors reach .500 mark

Netters defeat Waterloo

By Rob Raphael
Correspondent

The Granite City girls tennis team has reached its prime objective.

It was the goal of the Lady Warriors and coach Linda Ames at the beginning of the year to finish at or above the .500 mark in match play.

THAT GOAL WAS reached last Wednesday when the Lady Warriors defeated Waterloo 4-3 to raise their record to 7-6. With only one dual meet remaining, Granite City is assured of finishing at least .500.

"That was our main thing to try for when we started in August," Ames said. "Now that it's come true, we're very happy. I am proud of the girls because they have worked so hard."

On Wednesday, the Lady Warriors' doubles teams proved to be their strength, as all three teams won their matches. Chris Oberloh and Sabina Kumar defeated Kim Abernathy and Heidi Wild of Waterloo 7-5, 6-7, 6-2 in the first doubles match. Amy Boring and Leah Ames followed that with a 6-2, 4-6, 6-2 win over Laura Jackson and Cara Kohlmeier, and Liz Brooks and Erin Cain finished off doubles play with a 7-5, 6-7, 6-2 win over the team of Nicole Iannazzo and Sarah Shipp.

IN THE SINGLES matches, No. 1 Marc Holsinger lost to Beth Elder 7-6, 3-6, 0-6, but then No. 2 Geeta Kumar defeated Amber Burris 6-0, 6-0.

Ames said Geeta Kumar has been playing extremely well.

"She's just incredible right now," Ames said. "She has really come on as a season has progressed. She's a great natural athlete and she can really adapt to the other player's style. It's a great asset for her."

In other singles play, Wendy Atkinson lost to the Lady Bulldogs' Kim Johnson 0-6, 1-6, and Melissa Smith lost to Erin Hood 6-3, 4-6, 3-6. Smith's match lasted until well after dark.

"They only have four courts in Waterloo, and with five of the seven matches going three sets, it was after 8:30 when we finished and well after 9 p.m. when we got home," Ames said. "Thank goodness they had lights on their court."

THE LADY WARRIORS were scheduled to compete in the Southwestern Conference Tournament on Saturday, but the event was rained out. Although Monday was a holiday, the tour- (See LADY WARRIORS, Page 48)

day, when the Junior Bills held off CBC despite an intense second-half attack by the Cadets. SLUH got a goal from Brian Haddock with 4:46 to play in the first half and survived 40 minutes of heavy pressure from CBC.

"We knew they were going to come at us," Martel said. "We marked up tight. We told them they had to play for their lives in the second half, and they did it."

SLUH goalkeeper Dave Jetton made several spectacular saves to earn the shutout, including a brilliant stop against CBC's Ed Schoenheit midway through the second half.

"For a junior, he does a really good job," Martel said. "We knew he was going to be prepared."

SLUH's defense was led by Jason Struttman, a sophomore fullback; and Greg King, a senior midfielder. Struttman helped contain CBC standout Erik Kuster.

Martel said it was the first victory against CBC for SLUH's senior players in four years at the school.

"They wanted that win," Martel said. On Saturday, the Junior Bills defeated Vianney on second-half goals from senior midfielder Paul Jost and junior forward Matt Powers.

SLUH avoided a letdown against the Golden Griffins after the previous day's win over CBC and improved to 7-5.

"I wouldn't say it was any easier," Martel said.

Bokern felt the same way after watching the Dragons shut out Aquinas on a first-half goal from Kane Teeter. Teeter headed a shot past goalkeeper Andy Korbesmeyer on a perfect cross feed from a breaking Josh Halsten.

"It was beautiful," Bokern said. "It was a great head ball by Halsten and (Teeter) buried it. We went in with a lot of confidence and played a lot of tight man-to-man. There's no love lost between St. Mary's and Aquinas. That's been our main competition over the past few years."

St. Mary's defender Dave Reinecke contained Aquinas' standout Mark Filla, and fullback C.J. Eckrich marked Kevin Kalish. The Dragons got their usual leadership from captain Greg Thebeau and sweeper Dan Schulze, and Jim Walsh was in net for the shutout.

"We played some super defense," Bokern said. The Dragons' upped their record to 12-4-4 following a tough week leading up to the tournament. St. Mary's lost three straight games to Vianney, Chamaine and Rosary before last week's turnaround in Granite City.

After tying Duquesne, the Dragons routed Rosary 3-0 and eliminated DeSmet 1-0.

"I think beating Rosary was a turning point," Bokern said. "That was a big boost for us."

Bokern said the Dragons hope to pick up where they left off when the tournament resumes.

"I really look forward to this tournament," Bokern said. "It's great experience for my kids."

Warriors were surprised by McCluer North, which showed it could be a tough-serving team as well.

Missing a total of six serves, Granite City was never in the match and fell 15-2, 15-3.

The Lady Warriors then faced Hazelwood East for fifth place. Only one game was played to decide the match, and Granite City won 15-7.

The Lady Warriors were scheduled to take on Alton on Tuesday night in their last regular-season home match.

"I felt like we should have won some of the games there (at McCluer North) and we didn't, so that was disappointing," Gage said. "But the main thing was to play well against Jerseyville, and we did that. Now we can gear our efforts toward that."

Lady Warriors

nament was re-scheduled for that day.

"It's tough playing on a holiday," Ames said. "Some of the girls had to change plans at the last minute. I don't know why they didn't schedule it on Tuesday, it's apparently something about the conference by-laws."

Sectional play for Class AA teams begins this weekend.

GCHS is in an extremely tough sectional with teams like Belleville West, Alhambra, Jerseyville and Alton Marquette.

"I believe West has something like a 70-match winning streak, and at the conference they have all the No. 1 seeds," Ames said. "So if we want to do well, we will have to get a favorable draw."

Ames said she believed the best chance for advancement by her team would be Holsinger and Cecilia Kumar, who will pair up for doubles competition.

"The main thing is to go and try your best," Ames said. "These teams are so strong, it will be tough to advance."

The Lady Warriors' last dual meet is scheduled for Thursday against Triad. In addition, the Bethalto Tournament, which was postponed due to weather last month, has been moved again.

Church Women United hold meeting

Helen Stumpe, president, opened the Church Women United Sept. 23 meeting at the Central Christian Church by leading the devotion. Announcements and plans were given by the corresponding committee chairperson. The blood drive will be held from 2 to 7 p.m. Nov. 15 at St. John United Church of Christ. Lena Seitzer read a letter from the coordinator for Project Head thanking the members who volunteered as tutors.

The unit gave money for supplies for the new Head Start store starting in Granite City, where parents may buy supplies for their children who participate in the program.

The Dwight Correctional Facility has a program called "Aunt Mary's Storybook" project. Certain books are purchased and sent to mothers in prison who will record these books on tape. Both the books and tapes will be sent home to the children so they can hear their mother read to them as they follow along in the books.

Church Women United holds birthday parties for residents of the two nursing homes in Granite City. A church is needed to sponsor a party in April. Joyce Toussaint is in charge of the program. World Community Day will be observed on Nov. 4 at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church at 9:30 a.m. "Go, See and Act as Sisters" is the theme. Liz Briggs is chairperson. Refreshments will be served. The Church Women United area institute will be held at the Alton Presbyterian Church from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Oct. 19. Those attending are asked to meet at Central Christian Church at 8:30 a.m. and bring a sack lunch. Registration fee is $5. Nona Corzelius reported apartments for farm workers are being built in Darniestown, Ill.

The following officers for 1995 were elected: Helen Stumpe, president; Helen Todoroff, vice president; Millie Clements, secretary; Eva Clements, treasurer; and Louise Anderson, nominating committee.

Those in attendance were Mae Lee, Muriel Kratz, Nona Corzelius, Millie Clements, Helen Todoroff, Eva Clements, Louise Anderson, Jean Hileman, Joyce Toussaint, Dorothea Rivenburgh, Dorothy Luckert, Dolores Moseley, Lucille Caban and Helen Stumpe.

Eagles Auxiliary 1126 holds meeting

Thirty members of the Eagles Auxiliary 1126 were in attendance when Ann Pates, president, called the last meeting of September to order. The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was given by all.

Pates invited Leroy Stark, Aerle 1126, into the meeting to address the membership. Stark, who is now in the hospital, was unable to attend. Pates reported that the auxiliary will donate $100 to start the fall season.

Vincenzo Zerlan, secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting, which was approved by all. A roll call of officers was taken and all members were in attendance. Florence "Tut" Hagauer, membership chairman, reported that two new candidates were to be initiated. She also reported one new application.

Pates instructed the conductor to escort the candidates into the meeting. The initiation ritual was conducted by Pates, Connie Moth, vice president; Barbara Modrusis, junior past president; Millie Weatherford, chaplain; and Vera Johnson, conductor. The new members were Catherine Dus and Nora Cobb.

Correspondence was read from Southern Illinois University. They are seeking application for nomination of a person to recommend for the "Martin Luther King Humanitarian Award", given each year to a community member. Prospect Auxiliary 678 invited the members to its lodge on Oct. 28, 29 and 30 for its joint state officers appreciation weekend. Mount Vernon Auxiliary 2791 invited members to attend its state officers weekend on Oct. 7 and 8.

A thank-you note was received from the Ron McGinness family, who recently lost their son, Ron.

Gertrude Barkley, a long-time member, is in the Colonial Care Nursing Home and cards would be appreciated. Members will be visiting the nursing home.

Joanna Spencer and Pates were planning the evening of Oct. 11, when the auxiliary was to honor its past presidents. Sue Allen, kidney fund chairman; Vera Johnson, Alzheimer's chairman; and Barbara Modrusis, state heart fund project chairman; gave their reports.

Evelyn Ederle, bingo chairman and trustee, announced that the state had not issued a license and requested a copy of the auxiliary's past two years' community service and donation until it is received. Ederle will be going to Springfield, Ill., to try to expedite the matter.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR SENIORS

Many senior citizens turn to chiropractic as a means of maintaining their health and vitality in their later years. Chiropractic care is especially appropriate for seniors because older adults tend to lose muscle tone among the muscles that keep the spine in its normal and proper alignment. Consequently, the joints along the spinal column may fail to function as they should. This can have an adverse effect on spinal nerves leading to the major organs, muscles, and other tissues of the body. If so, an impaired nervous system can give degenerative disorders. By insuring an uninterrupted nerve supply with regular chiropractic adjustments, seniors can strive to keep their bodies at optimum functioning levels.

Senior citizens often seek chiropractic treatment for arthritis, bursitis, joint stiffness and swelling. These knowledgeable patients realize that through chiropractic care, they can achieve better physical health and therefore live happier lives. Young children, teenagers, adults, and senior citizens all benefit from chiropractic care. At the office of WARREN A. STEWART, JR., D.C., we are currently accepting new patients and welcome your call at 362-2121 to schedule an appointment. We're located at 10251 Lincoln Trail, Suite 12, Fairview Heights. Hrs: M-F 8am-6pm.

P.S. Chiropractors take a senior's more fragile bones into account when performing adjustments.

Micro Raves

Autumn is the time for catching up on good times with friends. Serve up the occasion with a microwave-easy brunch.

Lively Taste

Horseradish gives instant pep. Spread a very small dab on a tortilla with a thin layer of nonfat cream cheese, then top with deli-sliced turkey, beef or pork. Roll up.

Health & Fitness

Medicine Chest

Many drugs now come in forms that can be taken once a day. A person taking many tablets a day may be able to simplify. Ask your pharmacist or physician if it is possible.

Fresh Picks

They're in the bag. More and more pre-cut vegetables make instant additions to salads, side dishes and main dishes like stir-fry. Unlike a salad bar where veggies are exposed constantly to the air, these are packaged close to harvest in specially-designed bags that let a consumer gauge freshness. Salad blends come with or without separately-packed dressing. Adding other items offers even more variety and moderates the cost of the convenience.

Big Fat Tip

A low-fat cracker under present labeling has no more than 1.5 grams fat in a serving of little over an ounce. However, crackers with up to three grams fat in a standard serving may be acceptable. The number of crackers determines the actual serving. Examples include melba toast, crispbreads, Scandinavian flatbreads, fat-free salines and other new fat-free wheat or vegetable crackers. Best nutrition comes from ingredients with whole wheat flour or other whole grain listed first.

Future Shop

Does your breakfast compute? In a survey for the National Pork Producers Council, more than half skip breakfast at least once a week. About one-third skip it at least three times a week. Sixty percent said their favorite morning meal is American-style: bacon, eggs, toast, pancakes, etc. The runner-up (21 percent) was cold cereal.

AROMMMMMMAS

By Janice Denham
Staff Writer

Spring fever gets all the press. Autumn fever is just as potent. Its symptoms are wanting to jump in a pile of crisp, colorful leaves; picking apples from a hay wagon; and wearing flannel shirts while sitting in the warm sunshine.

Autumn also is coming home to fresh aromas that make people close their eyes and say, "Mmmmmmm."

Oh, sure, apple pie is nice for dessert, but a savory blend of hearty flavors is what gives Oktoberfest appetizing appeal.

Garlic and onion are the automatic choice for instantly tantalizing flavor and aroma. There are others that give quick punch, particularly in baked dishes.

Thyme matches autumn. It has a slightly sweet flavor and can be chopped for stews, soups and stuffing. If that is not enough, add it to vegetables, fish, poultry and meat. If an economical pork roast is on the menu, sprinkle the outside with dried leaf thyme, then sit back and wait for compliments when the aromatic meal is served.

Rosemary has tough, needle-like leaves that resemble pine. Lay sprigs of fresh rosemary atop a steaming dish where its resonant sweetness can permeate the senses the moment the dish is served.

Oregano fits an equation with Italian-style dishes. Its flavors mesh best when it is mixed with ingredients, rather than sprinkled on top.

Basil works in almost any hot dish. Its aroma will invite neighbors to drop in near dinnertime. Its flavor can be reinforced in salad. Mix it with mayonaisse-type dressings and refrigerate a few hours, or mince it fresh and sprinkle it atop a green salad.

Here are some ways to elicit an "ahhhhh" and an "mmmmmmmm" for autumn flavor.

APPLE PIE PLATE

The kid who likes apple pie will love this after-school snack. Barely warm a corn tortilla on a paper plate - 10 seconds in the microwave is enough. Top with 2 tablespoons shredded cheddar cheese, then 1/2 apple, sliced. Sprinkle with 2 more tablespoons shredded cheddar cheese. Sprinkle with cinnamon. Microwave on high power 30 to 45 seconds until cheese just begins to melt.

Private Label Test Run

Spiral-shaped pasta gives traditional boxed macaroni and cheese a brand new look. The new look went over well with this week's taste testers.

Journal tasters say: mac 'n' cheese, please

In some families, the cook has a responsibility to fix the box of macaroni and cheese exactly the way instructions read. For the family looking for variety that should not rock the boat of familiarity, Shop 'n Save spiral macaroni and cheese dinner may be what the pasta doctor ordered.

Tasters in this week's Private Label Test Run liked the color of the finished product.

"It looks very cheesy, not too orange," said one taster. "It looks like very typical macaroni and cheese."

Most testers had experience with a wide range of packaged mac-and-cheese products, including one who recently started using less expensive boxed varieties more often than "gourmet" products her family used occasionally in the past.

Her response to the test product's appearance and flavor was positive.

"We just go through a lot of it now. This at least measures up to any we've had. We've found we actually like the less expensive ones better. The small spiral noodle is a variation we would enjoy for little difference in cost," she said.

Shop 'n Save's brand costs 50 cents, while a similar national brand at the same store is priced at 82 cents.

Made according to package directions, the tasters thought the product was rich and cheesy.

One taster said, "This doesn't have a 'cardboard' flavor, like some I've tried, that end up tasting like the box. It has a nice richness to it."

Because of the time between cooking the dish and tasting it, part of the test turned out to be how well the macaroni held together with the delay. The result was positive as well, with the spirals not becoming stiff by absorbing too much liquid.

Those who prepare a box of macaroni to suit individual cooking requirements expected their variations would work well with this product, too. One adds canned tuna to the mixture. Another uses extra low-fat cheese and milk in place of the margarine.

pepper. Lightly coat with flour. In Dutch oven or heavy pot over medium-high heat, cook fat in oil until well browned on all sides. Remove meat and reserve. Add ½ cup stock, mushrooms, onion and garlic to pot. Cook, stirring to scrape all brown bits from pan, until liquid has evaporated and onion is tender. Add remaining stock, potatoes, thyme and rosemary. Cover. Heat to boiling. Reduce heat to low. Add lamb. Simmer, partially covered, 45 minutes or until lamb is tender.

Season with additional salt and pepper, if necessary. Stir in chopped parsley. Sauce should be consistency of gravy. If too thin, remove ingredients to casserole with slotted spoon and boil sauce until reduced. Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Ladle lamb mixture into 1½-quart casserole or 10-inch round deep-dish pie plate. Top with Cobbler Dough, clustering and overlapping leaves slightly, allowing open spaces for steam to escape.

Wise Ways

1-stop cooking sets quick dinner

Batch cooking makes meal preparation so easy even a child can do it. With a bit of training and clear instructions, anyone over the age of 12 can turn a package of frozen meatballs or turkey slices into a hearty entree.

Batch cooking takes advantage of easy mass production techniques at home. In an hour or two most cooks can make and freeze two or three low-fat menu basics that yield a dozen quick meals.

For example, many recipes start by browning ground beef. To save time and money, buy a family pack of ground beef, brown it at one time and freeze in portions that fit the family. For a quick meal, reheat meat in a microwave oven and add a jar of sauce while spaghetti cooks conventionally.

Sliced turkey is another good example. Double-layer waxed paper between slices and package in a reclosable freezer bag. For a quick meal, remove the slices needed and reheat with canned gravy for a sandwich. Slices also can be cut in strips or cubes to add to pasta and fresh vegetables, main dish salads, stir-fries, soups or casseroles. To keep convenience foods at peak quality, use freezer packaging that keeps moisture in and drying air out of food. Label with name of food, date and recipe location so they are easy and quick to find. Use within three months for best quality.

If a child or less-experienced cook will complete the cooking, choose a simple recipe with few ingredients. Go over directions with him or her in advance if this is a solo effort. Keep in mind most cooks under twelve need adult supervision when cooking.

Mildly-seasoned Basic Meatballs take on the flavor and character of herbs and seasonings in sauces added to them. Try spaghetti, hamburger or sweet-sour sauces in addition to the creamy dill combination in Quick Swedish Meatballs.

BASIC MEATBALLS

2 lb. lean ground beef

- 1 cup quick-cooking oats, uncooked
- ½ cup finely chopped onion
- ½ tsp. salt, if desired
- ¼ tsp. pepper
- 2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 2 eggs
- ¾ cup water, milk, broth or tomato sauce

Thoroughly mix ground beef, oats, onion, salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce, eggs and water. Form into 60 one-inch balls.

Arrange meatballs in single layer in 12-by-8-inch microwave-safe baking dish. Cover with baking paper. Microwave on high power 9 to 11 minutes until no longer pink, rearranging meatballs once, or bake in conventional oven at 350° for 15 to 20 minutes.

Drain. Blot any remaining fat with paper towel. Cool in refrigerator.

Freeze meatballs about 3 hours or until firm. Package freezer bags. Seal, label & freeze up to 3 months.

Yields 60 meatballs; 35 calories, 1.8 g fat (46 percent calories from fat) and 32 mg sodium each.

QUICK SWEDISH MEATBALLS

- Basic Meatballs
- 1 can (16 oz.) reduced-sodium cream of mushroom soup
- ¼ cup plain nonfat yogurt
- ¼ cup skim milk
- ½ tsp. dill weed

Place frozen meatballs in 1½-quart microwave-safe casserole. Microwave, covered, on high power 4 to 4½ minutes until heated through, stirring once.

Mix soup, yogurt, milk and dill. Pour over meatballs. Microwave, covered, on high power 4 to 5 minutes until just heated through, stirring once. Watch closely to prevent separation of yogurt.

Yields 5 servings; 198 calories, 10 g fat and 283 mg sodium each.

Living Lean for Adults

By TERRI EDELSTEIN

Less meat holds nutritious options

Gone are the days when a healthy meal meant "meat, starch, vegetable and dessert." Today many Americans compose meals and great variety, including some that hold the meat.

According to Vegetarian Times magazine, about 12.4 million Americans profess to be vegetarian.

A vegetarian is a person who eats mainly plant foods. Vegetarians range from those who eat no meat, poultry, fish, eggs or dairy products, to "meat restrictors" who avoid red meat but eat chicken or fish occasionally.

A meal with little or no meat can lower the risk of heart disease, certain cancers and obesity, especially when vegetable fats and small amounts of animal products are consumed.

However, strict vegetarians risk deficiencies in iron, calcium and vitamin B12. Counseling from a registered dietitian is recommended to ensure that these needs are met with proper foods or supplements.

Those who eat very little meat sometimes are less careful than strict vegetarians about getting enough protein, but either can meet the Recommended Daily Allowance for protein easily. Eating different plant foods within a varied diet ensures the right combination of proteins for good health.

For starters, base a meal around grains, legumes or low-fat cheeses with various vegetables and fruit.

• Breakfast: An easy start is whole-grain cereal with one percent, one-half percent or skim milk. Other possibilities are low-fat waffles, pancakes, toast or bagels. Pair them with fruit and nonfat yogurt.

• Lunch: Try low-fat cheese and vegetable sandwiches. Bean and vegetable soups with whole-grain crackers or breads are delicious. Salad bars brim with meatless options, but go easy on high-fat dressings, mayonnaise salads and regular cheese. On pizza, skip the extra cheese and the meat toppings. Many eateries offer vegetable pizza without cheese.

• Dinner: Start with pasta, rice or other grains with a tomato-based sauce. Add vegetables, beans or a sprinkle of cheese on top. Several ethnic cuisines, like Mexican, Asian and Indian—often contain little or no meat. Watch out for sour cream, lard, fatty cheeses, avocado and coconut.

• Any time: Go a little wild. Have waffles and yogurt for dinner or leftover pizza for breakfast. Your body won't know the difference. These potato skins are an attraction any time of day.

SPINACHEEY POTATO SKINS

- 4 baking potatoes, scrubbed
- 2 tsp. oil
- 2 cloves garlic, finely minced
- 1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen spinach, thawed, squeezed dry
- 1 cup (1 percent fat) cottage cheese
- ¼ cup grated parmesan cheese

Pierce potatoes several times with fork. Microwave on high power 8 minutes or until tender, turning once during cooking. Halve lengthwise. Scoop out and reserve flesh, leaving ¼-inch shell.

Preheat conventional oven to 400°.

Combine oil and garlic. Brush potato skins inside and outside with oil mixture. Place on baking sheet. Bake in preheated oven 10 minutes.

Mash potato flesh, spinach and cottage cheese in microwave-safe bowl. Microwave on high power 3 minutes until heated.

Fill potato skins with mixture. Sprinkle with parmesan. Bake in conventional oven 10 minutes or until cheese browns.

Serve hot. Makes 4 servings; 314 calories, 5 g fat, 7 mg cholesterol, 15 g protein, 54 g carbohydrate and 363 mg sodium each.

Brunch scores first on autumn schedule

Autumn: The word brings to mind warm and wonderful images of colorful leaves, harvest moon nights, fields of ripened grains, hayrides and apple picking.

However, more contemporary terms — football, chili and brunch — are wedded as solidly to the fall season. They evoke thoughts of fun and companionship with hearty, delicious food.

A microwave oven projects that picture to include a minimum of time preparing the hearty feast.

A fall brunch has lots of good food for guests to serve themselves. A chili bar is a warm way to celebrate the football season.

Start with a steamy pot of chili with various toppings in small containers to individualize each bowl. Toppings can include chopped green onion, salsa, sour cream, guacamole, shredded white and yellow cheeses, chopped tomatoes and chopped green pepper.

This chili recipe is microwave-easy, can be prepared in a large microwave-safe ceramic pot and can be reheated as needed. Of course, individual microwave-safe bowls always can be popped into a microwave oven 30 to 40 seconds to get

AUTUMN BRUNCH CHILI

- 2 lb. ground meat (chuck quality or leaner)
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1 clove garlic, finely chopped
- 2 cans (10 oz. each) chili-hot beans
- 2 cans (15 oz. each) tomato sauce
- 2 tbsp. chili powder
- 2 tsp. cumin
- Salt and pepper, if desired

In large plastic colander, place ground meat, onion and garlic. Suspend over microwave-safe pot. Cook 7 to 8 minutes on high power, stirring occasionally, until meat is no longer pink and vegetables are tender. (Meat cooked this easy way drains as it cooks, resulting in a leaner product.) Dispose of grease.

Place cooked meat in microwave-safe pot. Add beans, tomato sauce, chili powder and cumin. Salt and pepper to taste.

Cook in microwave oven, covered, 15 to 20 minutes on medium-high power until flavors are blended.

Serve with desired toppings. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

ONIONY POTATOES

- 6 large potatoes, cut in cubes
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 2 tbsp. onion soup mix

Place potato, salt, pepper and butter in 3-quart microwave-safe casserole. Cook, covered, on high power, stirring occasionally, about 18 minutes, until just tender. Add onion soup mix. Stir well. Cook, covered, on high power 5 to 6 minutes until hot.

Makes 8 to 10 servings. Betty Serati specializes in microwave cooking.

Apples and pumpkin: a winning combo

Karen Herbert, Florissant, is the winner of this week's dinner certificates from the Pasta House Co. for Pumpkin Apple Cake.

This month's contest offered prizes for winning apple or pumpkin recipes. Herbert went an extra step and offered a moist and rich cake that uses both. Its typical seasonings complement both as well. That includes a hint of cloves and ginger.

Recipes in the Holiday Cookie Recipe Contest will be accepted through Oct. 31 for consideration as winner each of the five weeks in November, giving an extra week for a possible win.

Send one cookie recipe per household to: Holiday Cookie Recipe Contest, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63101.

Type or print the recipe legibly on one side of the paper. Include name, address and telephone number on the entry. Include the name of the Journal you receive. Be sure to double-check the recipe as it is written for both amounts and directions, including any variations that make this dish special.

If there is a history to the recipe, it will be considered part of the entry. It will be part of the basis for selecting winners, along with taste and eye appeal. Originality will be considered, although the recipe need not be original.

Contest winners may enter again six months after their prize-winning publication date.

Tales abound for Halloween reading

By Jane Cosby
Correspondent

The coming Halloween holiday provides a wonderful theme for reading and storytelling with your child.

This ancient holiday can be traced back hundreds of years before Christ to the Celtic day of the dead. On this day, Druid priests built giant bonfires to keep demons at bay and put out sweets to placate them.

Stories and books about this fascinating holiday are sure to delight your child. Here are some new books to get you in the Halloween spirit.

For children who are not quite ready for really spooky tales, try "Scared Silly" by Marc Brown (Little, Brown and Co., $18.95.) Although this collection of stories, poems, riddles and jokes is subtitled "A Book for the Brave," it really isn't.

The stories are tame enough for preschoolers and won't send any child to bed trembling in fear. It takes a little Halloween themes with humor and warmth and offers some suggestions for good-natured tricks. It's a great book for little ones.

Older children who can take a little more horror with their Halloween can check out "Spooky Stories for a Dark and Stormy Night," compiled by Alice Low (Hyperion Books for Children, $19.95.)

This international collection of frightening tales should be reserved for children ages 8 and older. With this book, children can join a tradition of listening to scary stories that has been handed down for generations and in every culture in the world.

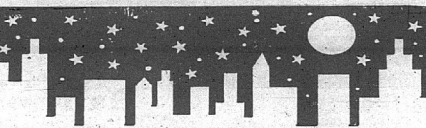

If stories have to be true to interest you or your child, you can read "The Mummy's Curse" by Daniel Cohen (Avon Camelot Books, $3.99.) In this book you can read about ancient cultures and the mysteries scientists are unable to solve, buried treasures, UFOs and people like Lizzie Borden, Nostradamus and Jack the Ripper.

A more tame approach to Halloween can be found in "On Halloween Night" by Ferida Wolff and Dolores Kozielecki (Tambourine Books, $15.) This counting picture book follows two children through a haunted wood, counting scary things along the way. If you prefer a more scholarly book about Halloween, read "Weird: The Complete Book of Halloween Words" by Peter Linburg (Avon Camelot Books, $5.50.) The author explains the origins and background of words and traditions associated with the holiday.

Ladies Coterie holds meeting

The Ladies Coterie met Sept. 15 at the Niedringhaus Methodist Church, Granite City. The hostesses, Gladys Pape, served refreshments to 21 members. Esther Vasileff, president, introduced the society's scholarship recipients. Both of these young people were sponsored by the Ladies Coterie.

Mark Hewlett, a junior at Granite City High School this year, was the Robie Scholarship representative to a three-day leadership training workshop in Springfield, Ill. He spoke briefly about the conference and felt that it afforded him a good outlook on his life in the future. He expressed his appreciation for the Ladies Coterie sponsoring him.

Emily Zarate, a 17-year-old senior at Granite City High School, was the recipient of a scholarship to attend a summer workshop at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in art. She sang two songs, "Memory" and "On My Own" from Les Miserables. Emily also felt that having the opportunity to attend this class was a wonderful experience.

A business meeting followed the program. The next meeting will be held Oct. 27 at the Niedringhaus Methodist Church when the Ladies Coterie will be hostesses for the district meeting to celebrate the centennial anniversary of Federated Women's Clubs. Elizabeth Briggs is chairwoman for this special event. This will be an all-day meeting with a luncheon served and special entertainment.

Other members attending this meeting were Pearl Alborn, Elizabeth Briggs, Lillian Delpe, Elizabeth Edwards, Anka Filcoff, Helen Friedman, Bess Henley, Harriet Horn, Virginia John, Barbara Landis, Marguerite Lexow, Virginia Oram, Elsie Rodell, Betty Schmedake, Guyia Stuart, Elvira Thubert, Helen Tomcoff, Ella Wade and Denise Wright.

The House approved legislation on Sept. 28 that will allow states and local governments to import and export out-of-state municipal waste—a move praised by U.S. Rep. Dick Durbin as “an important step in giving local governments in Illinois a greater voice in local waste management decisions.”

The bill, H.R. 1000, the State and Local Government Interstate Waste Control Act, which authorizes local governments to export waste to other states, landfills, incinerators or other disposal facilities within their jurisdiction. It also allows states to impose surcharges on out-of-state waste to recover the costs associated with disposal of the waste.

In recent years, one of the most controversial questions has been whether state and local governments should have authority to restrict disposal of waste that originated in other states.

Federal courts, including the U.S. Supreme Court, have found that restrictions on out-of-state waste are unconstitutional burdens on interstate commerce.

But Congress has twice authorized states and localities to impose the restrictions. Passage of the Waste Control Act will meet the courts’ criteria.

Of the roughly 200 million tons of municipal waste generated in the United States each year, about 10 percent is shipped across state lines. While nearly all states export waste to other states, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana import more than half of all the waste they receive.

“The out-of-state waste issue has been a hotbed of controversy in Illinois’ 20th Congressional District in 1992 when seven Northeastern states began shipping waste to the communities of Taylorville and Litchfield.”

“The Waste Control Act was pushed for passage of this legislation as a way to give residents of those communities and other communities a way to locate waste,” Durbin said.

“This is responsible legislation that will allow communities to phase-in time to allow communities and businesses time to adjust,” Durbin said. “Local residents will be able to understand by and watch an unwanted and possibly dangerous source of waste dumped in their communities.”

the unwrapped boxes, collecting they will run rampant.

The Hawkins workshop holds both completed models plus shelves of shelves of uncompleted models waiting to be put together.

"I'm a good collector," Hawkins said. "It's all so dear to me. I can't see selling it."

Besides, selling it is too much trouble.

The cost of a model may run $70 to $12, while more expensive models may cost $15 to $500, Hawkins explained.

Hawkins usually doesn't spend more than $100 on a model. When the Hawkins' moved to O'Fallon more than two years ago, the model room was the first room in the new home. Shelves and counters for work space were installed.

Son Chris has set up a model room downstairs in the playground. Another son, Joshua, 8, is more interested in model cars than models. Game Boy and all video games.

"Everyone likes different hobbies," said 11-year-old Nick. "He is interested in Nintendo, that's his thing."

His sister, 10-year-old "Liz," the said, "collecting hobby, Hawkins said.

They attend model swap meet to trade and sell models and enter contests.

Chris has won trophies for model cars he has built.

Hawkins also collects car magazines. Hot Wheel show cars are a favorite. "The shelves, look like a five-lane highway during a traffic jam, and they're all different," he said. He has 1,000 cars.

"I look for them in stores when I go on business trips, anywhere," said Mike Hawkins. "They cost under a dollar. I look for the crazy ones."
